

Requirements analysis

Semeval (priority requirements): create an application that can be executed from the command line and requires no Internet access, which will be trained on a dataset to classify a given text to a status of following a hyperpartisan argumentation.

Lexicology(requirements with reduced priority): create a web interface containing the following: a field used to submit a text for analysis, a button to start the analysis of the text and a result of the analysis that may include an argumentation for increasing the credibility of the output.